January Meeting at the VFW

No smokin' is the rule at the VFW again, but that won't stop us from meetin' and talkin' fishin'. Little Angel Scott Squire will officially lead his first meeting as president, where the committees will get organized and go over plans for the upcoming season. We currently have no speaker lined up, so come prepared, it may be you. Dinner is 6:00, and the meeting will begin at 7.

From the Desk of the President, Little Angel

This is my first letter so go easy on me.

I hope everyone had a great Christmas and a Happy New Year. For those of you who believe in New Year's resolutions, I have a few as your President to add to your list.

- I will try to make as many meetings and tournaments as possible.
- I will participate in my committees with gusto.
- As a Captain or Little Buddy I will, to the best of my ability, help my partner.
- I will take a lot of photos of all the wonderful events and fish throughout the year.
- I will thank God for the wonderful friends, beautiful scenery, and great creatures he has created for the Waterdogs.

Sounds easy to me!

I have sent out a list of the committee chairs and the people that signed up for the various committees last month. I tried my best to keep most of you on the committee you selected, but may have had to move some because of too large a number in one group and not enough in another. After reviewing the lineup in each committee, I think we have a great mix of just the right people for each of the positions.

I would like to thank those who I asked to head up some of the committees. The leadership you provide will make 2008 a great year for our club.

One of the things I enjoyed about the club 2007 was the seminars we had. Nasty did a wonderful job with his group and he has agreed to head it up again this year. My thanks to him for taking on this task one more year.

Captain Kirk is heading up the tournament schedule for 2008. We have met once already as a tournament committee and have a good start on the lake selection for 2008.

My thoughts for the January meeting were to have a quick business meeting and then try to get into our committees for a short time to firm a few things up. I would like to ask our chairs to come with some ideas to get things started.

My hope for future Documentaries is to provide some winter fishing stories. I have my gear ready and hope to get out around the 1st of January. I haven't started my auger in about two years, so I may have some starting issues. If anyone is game to go out let me know. I have a Clam Classic (two man, 4 holer).

Little Angel's Creative Side

I was looking through an older bass magazine and came across an article that they used a can cooler as a reel protector. It looked like a good idea so I tried it out and it worked even better than I thought. I put a baitcasting reel in one and it fit quite well. I took it a step further to see if I could make it work on a reel mounted on a rod and found it to work great as well.

Items needed.

- One can cooler
- One Velcro fastener (strap) I found one lying around the house.
- Total cost (priceless) didn't cost a thing

See the photos below for more information.
This is Little Angel Approved!

So, if you have some free time this winter give this project a whirl.

Schara Kids Clinic at St Paul Sportshow

Once again, we will be helping Ron Schara with his Kids Clinic on Saturday Jan 12 from 11-1pm, and Sunday Jan 13 from 12 -2pm. Plan on being at the St Paul Civic Center to help out on one of those dates.

Helen wins VP in a Landside Vote!

Well, we don't really know the vote tally, but since Tom H. Keller was the only one of the three candidates to show up for the election, it's safe to assume that his competition was lean. Helen even had a platform based on an upgraded version of Hillary's agenda, and made a speech that almost brought the VFW waitress to tears. In any case, the enthusiasm of the VP –elect was good to see, and we look forward to a couple of good and organized years coming up, in typical Waterdog fashion.

In the other election, Perp, Shatner, and Dr Meat were elected to the Board of Directors. They join the President Little Angel, and VP Helen as the policy-making arm of the club. They may even have a meeting if any issues come up.

Other committee heads are similar to last year with Nasty heading up seminars, and Shatner taking the heat for the 9 guys on the tournament committee.

Erratum:

A misprint occurred in the last Dogumentary, and we wish to correct that information now. It was reported that Dr. Sticky Fingers won the coveted 'Captain of the Year' award, but it was actually won by Kojak. Bob Raymo, who provided the information, was apparently so taken aback by the moment, that he forgot who he had presented the award to. Carmen apologizes for any inconvenience that this misinformation may have caused.

Nasty gets ready for 2008

All of this fresh snow doesn't make me think about fishing, however, I am starting to plan fishing dates for 2008. I considered last year a down year and hopefully after a 3 month rest I am rejuvenated for 2008. I haven't been fishing for three months. That's the longest time off I've had for a long long time.

I filled out my family's 2008 calendar today. At our house, the first person to reserve a date gets to do their activity. I'm in for all of the tournaments again in 2008. I have a new and large supply of bottom bouncers and other trickery so watch out. As for other planned fishing trips, the Nasty family is once again signed up for our family trip to Rush Lake in Ottertail County. Last year the Crappies averaged 1.5 pounds. We are still eating them. Nothing like having four possession limits! I am also working on an ice out Northern Pike trip in Upsala, Ontario for the third week in May. There are reports of big ones up there. You'll most likely find me fishing the Rush during the first two weeks of March. I have 40 hours of vacation to use up before April 1st or I will lose them. Oh, and yes I am going to Lake of the Woods again this year.

Not bad, three week long trips and the usual waterdogs pre-fishing and tournaments.

Nasty's thinking about weeds and fishing

Sports Show

How many Dogs out there are getting cabin fever? At least being at the Sports Show in January is a good sign that spring is just around the corner!

Speaking of the Sports Show, I would like to thank all those who participated at the Shara's Kids Fishing Clinic. I talked to Perp, and he said we had a total of 19 Dogs there for the two days. Mama's Boy and I didn't have a lot of time to wonder around the show, but I did manage to check out the Ranger Reatas for 2008. I will probably dream about them for a few more years... while waiting for my ship to come in!

Fishing at Buffalo Lake

Cabin fever got the best of me and I had to get out, so last Saturday after 3 years in moth balls I got out my Clam Classic house and gear to venture out to do a little ice fishing. The gas auger worked fine, the sunflower heater died, and so did the battery for my FL8 locator. Well, $160.00 later at Cabella's I had a new heater, bottled gas, and bait, but still no battery for my locator.

I decided on Sunday morning I would try it out anyway. I had some minor success and caught a few crappies, but none much larger than 9 inches. I realized then how valuable that FL8 would have been; as the crappies were suspended I was fishing a little blind. Now that my gear is ready to go again, I'm looking forward to a few more trips.

Bill Keye's Benefit

Last Saturday, my wife and I attended a benefit for Bill Keyes. We got to know Bill and his wife, Julie, during our years in youth ministry at our church. Bill, an avid outdoorsman who loves hunting and fishing, had an unfortunate accident last fall. While reinforcing a deer stand, he fell and damaged his back causing paralysis from the T-7 vertebrae down. This was a benefit like I have never seen. There were hundreds of people that attended the dinner, benefit, and auctions. They held both a silent auction and live auction with many donated gifts. The live auction had trips to Florida, a hunting trip to northern Canada for caribou, and even an African safari for hunting big game. The proceeds for the benefit are to help with modifications to their home and for a van equipped for Bill's special needs.

Bill and his community of fellow sportsmen reminded me of the good times we share as Waterdogs. It also caused me to think, once again, that we should live every minute to its fullest, because you never know what tomorrow brings.

Helen's New Year's Day Fishing Report

Laun and I got out ice fishing on New Years Day. Our original plan was to try some trout fishing on the Hay, but the temps kinda put a freeze on that idea. For me personally, it's the first time I haven't fished the winter trout opener in about 5 years. It's a long season and I am sure it won't be a problem getting out this winter. Besides, if all the pundits are right, global warming will make it easier to fish winter trout in the future.

Anyways, Laun and I ventured to Medicine Lake in Plymouth, a favorite locale for metro ice fishermen. In fact on the weekends there can be 200 portables on the lake. The lake is known for good all around fishing and the decision was easy for Laun and I; the lake's only about 2 miles from our houses.

We made about a 3/4 mile walk from French Park boat launch to a 20' hole along the west shore (toward Kojak's house). The wind wasn't very strong, but it sure was cold and we were glade to get the portable up and the heater going. Our goal was to spend a few hours catching pan fish and perhaps get a chance at a walleye.

We were fishing with wax worms on small jigs that had worked pretty well on this spot in the past, but the first hour was pretty slow. Using both a flasher and a camera to watch the fish react, we switched to small pink shrimp imitations and wham the sunfish started to hit. The fishing wasn't wild but it was steady, with pauses every 20-minutes while a pesky pike cruised the area. As soon as the pike left, the sunfish came back. It's pretty cool when you can watch how the fish react to these situations. After some steady action and some nice sized fish, the pike came back to stay, so we decide to try and catch it. Laun skillfully work the camera while I bounced a jig and a fathead minnow on the bottom. We watched the pike moved to the jig then backed off and stare and repeat, and repeat again. The fish was so close that we could only see half of it on the screen. We didn't catch the fish, didn't have what it wanted, but it sure was fun screwing with it for 20 minutes.

A camera is a pretty neat tool. (plus it keeps kids entertained). I always thought cameras were "cheating" until I bought one. They're great tools to use for learning, but I think the entertainment factor is the best part.

Dogs go a Wading

The first weekend of the Minn. winter trout season was January 5&6, and six Dogs, spurred on by the forecast of high 30's temperatures, made the trek to the Whitewater River to check out the post-flood fishing. It was a calm and foggy day on Sunday, and just perfect for walking the streams. The fishing was slow to start, but picked up around noon for a few hours of decent action for the six dogs. Everyone caught some fish, and the rivers looked pretty good for the most part, with still good structure and what seemed to be an OK population of fish as well. The highlights of the day were a 17" brown caught by FD on a Panther Martin, a 15" caught by Felix, and more than 12 fish caught by Buick. Nasty, OF, and Shatner were also part of the crew and all caught fish. The boys were pleased to report a successful outing with no broken bones or hooked heads. It appears that the trout in the Whitewater survived last year's flood in good enough shape to be worth making the trip, so if you see a warm stretch coming, give a Dog a call and check it out!

OF Plies the Winter Waters

Dog Tips, Tricks, and Facts

To measure trout, try a carpenter's tape measure with a belt clip, as popularized by Griz. It works great, but can pop off your belt if you're not careful. It's the best thing until the trout measuring mats come out.

For trout fishing, you can add the tiniest of clips to your line in order to change baits more easily. Oddly, it does not seem to effect the action of jigs and other lures.

A small needle-nose pliers works best for removing hooks and also bending the barbs down for trout fishing.

On cold days, carry your camera and phone in a warmer inside shirt pocket to keep them working better.

If your feet get cold fishing in cold weather, try some Heat Treat Toe Warmers that are chemical warming pads that stick to the end of your socks.

A zip-lock bag will help to protect your electronics in case of an unplanned swim.

Use your Waterdog calendar as a fishing log. You may have to write small or use more than one box for a trip, but it does help to keep a lot of good info in one place.

There are now 11 Ranger boats in the club, with a threat of adding one or two more this year.

Three Dogs have family lake cabins where they spend time during the summer. They are Suzy, Mama's Boy, and Helen. Invites are possible.

If you're in the market for new fishing gear of any kind, look on Ebay, where you can find many items at half of their regular retail price, or less.

On-Line Tournament Entries

Last year, the concept of being able to register for a fishing event via the club web site was mentioned, and this year, it's a reality. It's set up and active – some dogs have probably used it already. Check it out by going to www.waterdogsmn.org and clicking on the On-Line Entry Form button. After you select an appropriate option, you'll get a confirmation page that you should print out on your printer. Comments, suggestions, or criticisms are welcomed, of course. Greenstick

Fish'n Funnies

One Saturday morning he gets up early, dresses quietly, gets his lunch made, puts on his long johns, grabs his dog and goes to the garage to hook up his boat to the truck and down to the driveway he goes

Coming out of his garage the rain is pouring down: it is like a torrential downpour. There is snow and sleet mixed in with the rain. The wind is blowing at over 50mph.

Minutes later he returns to the garage. He comes back into the house. Turns the TV to the weather channel and he finds it is going to be very bad weather all day long, so he puts his boat back in the garage, quietly undresses and slips back into bed.

There he cuddles up to his wife's back, now with a different anticipation and whispers, "The weather out there is terrible". To which she sleepily replies, "Yeah, can you believe my stupid husband is out fishing in it?"

This could never happen to a Waterdog as all our events have perfect weather!

Take The Bait

It was a cold winter day, when an old man walked out onto a frozen lake, cut a hole in the ice, dropped in his fishing line and began waiting for a fish to bite.

He was there for almost an hour without even a nibble when a young boy walked out onto the ice, cut a hole in the ice not too far from the old man and dropped in his fishing line. It only took about a minute and WHAM! a Largemouth Bass hit his hook and the boy pulled in the fish.

The old man couldn't believe it but figured it was just luck. But, the boy dropped in his line and again within just a few minutes pulled in another one.

This went on and on until finally the old man couldn't take it any more since he hadn't caught a thing all this time.

He went to the boy and said, "Son, I've been here for over an hour without even a nibble. You have been here only a few minutes and have caught about half a dozen fish! How do you do it?"

The boy responded, "Roo raf roo reep ra rums rram."

"What was that?" the old man asked.

Again the boy responded, "Roo raf roo reep ra rums rram."

"Look," said the old man, "I can't understand a word you are saying."

So, the boy spit into his hand and said, "You have to keep the worms warm!"

"I listened to a motivational tape on the way over here. It said to think big."
